

We'll See The Stars

(Primaries)

Are we alone? Is there anybody out there?
We call Earth home,
But we think she needs a lot more care
And time is running out.

Man in the moon,
Can you hear the Earth is singing way out of tune?
Do you see her colours fading
Now that time is running out?

So many fumes and gases in our atmosphere
Means we can't see the stars from all the way down here.
We know they're there, and it's not fair
That the stars shone bright for those before us,
It's up to us to sing a chorus of hope.

So we'll see the stars!
Clear the skies and oceans, we'll see the stars
If we get ourselves in motion.
We'll see the stars, we'll see the stars,
We'll see the stars again!
Me and you, my friends!
We'll see the stars again.

Smoke will be gone if we tread the ground
beneath us
And a new song
Will ring around to teach us all
To breathe again.

Man in the moon, can you see the wreck and ruin?
It's happened too soon.
We are trying hard to pick up pieces
To restore the Earth.

So many fumes and gases in our atmosphere
Means we can't see the stars from all the way
down here.
We know they're there, and it's not fair
That the stars shone bright for those before us,
It's up to us to sing a chorus of hope.

So we'll see the stars!
Clear the skies and oceans, we'll see the stars
If we get ourselves in motion.
We'll see the stars, we'll see the stars,
We'll see the stars again!
Me and you, my friends!
We'll see the stars again.

[Instrumental]

Millions and millions and billions and billions
Of us walk this Earth each day.
Brilliant civilians can make our Earth resilient
If we put our minds together today

To see the stars!
Clear the skies and oceans, we'll see the stars
If we get ourselves in motion.
We'll see... the stars...
We'll see... the stars...
We'll see the stars again!
Me and you, my friends!
We'll see the stars!
We'll see the stars.
We'll see the stars!
